

Increasing Your Probability of Success

Whatever you want, there are principles (cause & effect relationships) connected to achieving it. Learn and apply those principles and you increase your probability of success. The more principles you master, the greater the likelihood you will achieve what you want. Life is not a matter of luck, nor is it absolutely in your control, but you can determine your probability of achieving whatever you decide is important to you.

2.	QUEEN

Directions:

Write in important principles as you learn and apply them. Remember, it is not enough to learn a principle; you must apply it before you receive the power it contains. You might select from the Steps to True Health Total Success Memory Game or the How to Think Better & Grow Richer Game. Also, take a deck of playing cards and separate all the cards of any one suit. That would give you 13 cards from Ace to King. Shuffle the cards. If you are applying one principle, then look to the right of number one. It indicates King. Take one card at random. Your probability of it being a king is 1 out of 13. If you are applying 3 principles, look to the right and above. This time when you pick a card at random, you win if it is a Jack or above. That is a 3 out of 13 probability. You have increased your probability of success. Continue learning and applying principles and you continue to increase your probability of success.
